

HELEN MEAKIN

2nd Floor Footbridge

Individual pieces woven in wire and silk to create interior panels that are beautifully textural and light reflecting.

CHRIS TREE

4th Floor Main Hospital Renal

"These are examples of recent work. I regularly paint several pieces of differing styles at the same time. Painting, for me, is another way of experimenting with and exploring thoughts and ideas".

DANIEL LINGHAM

5th Floor Main Hospital Balcony Pathology/ Nuclear Medicine

"My aim is to create abstract sculptural art which is free from ideology, but open to interpretation and speculation".

VALERIE DALLING MOVING THE CHAIR

5th Floor Main Hospital outside Pathology/ Nuclear Medicine

Through her Moving the Chair series, Valerie has captured fragments of a landscape, once described by William Wordsworth as "long, stern and desolate".

Using only a point and shoot digital camera, she discovers a hidden beauty by looking deeper into her subject rather than simply viewing it.

arts to aid wellbeing

This season of new work at Derby Hospitals is based around the theme Northern Lights. The exhibitions all brighten up our walls in very different ways from Helen Meakin`s delicate textile panels on the 2nd floor footbridge, the festive glow of Will Stones Xmas Lights, to the dreamy and evocative landscapes of Valerie Dalling`s Lake District landscapes "Moving the Chair" on the 5th Floor.

Derby Hospitals NHS Foundation Trust wants the new Derby Hospital to have a unique and welcoming environment. air: arts to aid wellbeing is our arts in hospital program. It supports the healing process with high quality art, which helps to create a therapeutic environment and a place in which patients, staff and visitors can engage positively with their surroundings.

All work on exhibition is for sale, please contact the Hospitals Arts Coordinator Juliet Cooper on cooper@hcp.co.uk or telephone 01332 786203

MARTIN HYDE DEADGOOD KIDS

1st Floor Maternity & Gynecology

The Kids were conceived during the autumn of 2007, whilst Martin was preparing the nursery for his first child. The characters may look a little spooky, but they are sweet natured and thoughtful, and of course exceedingly stylish.

MARY WARDLE PRINTMAKER

2nd Floor Main Hospital outside Intensive Care

Once used to wrap butter, the surface of these tough, rhubarb like leaves resembles the terrain of the Derbyshire Dales in which they grow. Each print is a unique piece of work, like a painting, only one print pulled from each block.

DEBORAH ALLITT

1st Floor Maternity & Gynecology
1st Floor Main Hospital outside Faith Centre

Deborah paintings are inspired by walks in hills and dales and coastal places. The paintings are about the colours, light, movements and feeling of space that rather than about details.

LAURALEI REID IT'S A SMALL WORLD

3rd Floor Main Hospital outside Wards

'It's a small world' is a series of portraits of Mini owners and their cars. A Mini owner myself, I wish to document this world comparing the people and their cars, identifying the bond between the owners and their pride and joy.

DUNCAN THURLBY SCULPTURE

1st Floor MAU Courtyard
5th Floor Main Hospital Balcony Pathology/
Nuclear Medicine

Duncan inspiration is plucked from the natural world, never too literally or seriously, a sense of character and humour being essential in all of his creations. Using a range of hand working techniques the final pieces emerge as a result of this rather 'unnatural evolution'.

WILL STONE XMAS LIGHTS

3rd Floor Main Hospital outside Wards

"The buildings themselves are secondary to the lights and I rely on the main features of the house being illuminated by the creativity of the lighting displays." Will has kindly been sponsored by One Vision Imaging who have printed and framed all of the photographs on display. www.onevisionimaging.co.uk
